

To whom it may concern,

I had the pleasure of working with Brett Rogers as one of the lead actors on my feature film All About E.

Brett's character work is extraordinary. For the role of Matt, Brett had to transform from his natural self - a slim, olive skinned, dark haired and rich deep voiced person to a chubby, red-headed, at times high pitched, camp Irishman. But it was not only the physical transformation Brett brought to the character that was impressive, it was the deep internal work he did to make Matt's character one of the most endearing. This internal work made Brett's transitions from pathos to comedy effortless.

I have to make specific mention of Brett's extraordinary comic skills here. Not only were they evident in the final product where his role was needed to provide comic relief in some tense scenes, Brett's improvisation skills were also invaluable. He is simply one of the funniest people I know. He often had the whole crew in stitches.

Low budget features can be stressful and Brett's can-do attitude, his team spirit and professionalism was a great help. His diligence, deep attention to detail and generosity to his fellow cast was second to none. I would work with him again in a heartbeat.

Yours Sincerely,

Louise Wadley.
